Fears Arabs Might Resent Jews In Jobs At Bases

Maj. Gen. G. J. Nold, deputy chief of engineers, told the U.S. Senate Preparedness subcommittee in Washington that New York workers were not recruited for building military bases in Arab countries because the contractors believed a large number of them would be of Jewish origin and would be resented by the Arabs and be in personal danger.

The general's testimony was given in reply to a question by Senator Lyndon B. Johnson, Democrat, of Texas, chairman of the subcommittee, as to why a pool of 20,000 unemployed construction workers in New York was not tapped for the overseas building program.

General Nold said that the air base contractors were working on a "crash program" where speed was imperative. The New York branch of the United States Employment Service, he added, told the contractors that it must operate in conformity with state laws forbidding discrimination in employment and could not, therefore, screen out Jewish applicants for the jobs, says the New York Times.

That, the general said, was one of the reasons the large contractors recruited their labor force in Minnesota principally, with lesser campaigns in the Midwest. Another reason was that the contracting concerns were familiar with the workers in that part of the country and knew the level of individual skills on which they could count.

Schools Acquire Plaster Models By Great Sculptor

The late Jo Davidson's original plaster model of Walt Whitman was presented to the Walt Whitman School by Mrs. Leonard J. Trilling. This long-term loan of the over-life-size plaster, from which the bronze in Bear Mountain Park was cast, was made possible by the interest of the sculptor's widow; of his close friends, Mr. and Mrs. Ely Jacques Kahn, and of Nathan Bienstock, administrator of the estate. Mrs. Trilling, who has three sons enrolled in the school, is Mrs. Kahn's daughter.

In honor of the presentation, the pupils of this private co-educational school repeated a part of the program, "I Hear America Singing," which won for the school a Freedom Foundation award in 1950 for its contribution in introducing young Americans to the American way of life. Miss Louise Kruger, founder and director of the school, accepted the figure.

The large sculpture, showing the poet with his hat in his right hand, his head in an alert, listening attitude and his coat and beard blowing slightly as he strides forward, was placed in the dining hall of the remodeled building at Seventy-eighth Street and Madison Avenue into which the fifteen-year-old school moved recently.

Several other large plaster models by Jo Davidson are being dispersed to other appropriate institutions, reports the New York Times. Brandeis University has already accepted the over-life size model of the Franklin Delano

THE NEW QUEEN—Elizabeth II —Berni

THE LATE KING—George VI —Karsh

The following condolences were sent to the Royal Family by Samuel Bronfman, National President, Canadian Jewish Congress, on behalf of the Jewish Community of Canada upon the death of His Majesty George VI:

The deep mourning of the subjects of His Late Majesty George VI gives expression to the tremendous affection which the people of Canada had for a noble and influential monarch. The exemplary life of George VI and the courage and fortitude which his life symbolized will ever be an imperishable tribute to his memory. The commonwealth generally and Canada in particular is the richer for his life. The Canadian Jewish Congress for the Jewish Community of Canada expresses to the members of The Royal Family its sympathy. It reaffirms its loyalty and devotion to the crown and prays that Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth be vouchsafed strength and good health for the exacting and important role to which she has acceded.

Sees U.S. Trend To Rigid Thinking As Danger

The trend to conformity in America is weakening the country's strength and unity and endangering its prestige abroad, Jacob Blaustein, president of the American Jewish Committee, said at a dinner session of the organization's forty-fifth annual meeting, in New York.

Dwight R. G. Palmer, chairman of the board of General Cable Corp. and chairman of President Truman's committee to enforce anti-discrimination clauses in government contracts, deplored the waste of human resources as a result of racial and religious discrimination. He said that America "cannot afford the sheer economic waste created by intergroup tensions."

Mr. Blaustein, asserting that the development of a fear psychosis is contrary to every tenet of democracy, said that "Americans must reverse this alarming drift toward rigid conformism if American liberties and freedoms are not to be sunk under a welter of mutual distrust, suspicions and hatreds," ac-

Gets First Food Cargo In U.S. Aid Grant

United States aid to Israel assumed tangible form with the arrival in Haifa of the freighter Laurentian Valley carrying the first cargo of food ordered under the terms of the United States grant-in-aid for 1951-52. Bruce McDaniel, director of Point Four assistance to Israel, and representatives of the Israeli Government were on hand to view the unloading of 5,500 tons of wheat and 4,500 tons of flour, which will ease supply problems here.

Israel had sent agents hurrying to Cyprus, Turkey and other Mediterranean countries last month for emergency orders of a few thousand tons of foodstuffs to tide the country over until the American supplies arrived, says the New York Times.

The Laurentian Valley brought to Israel the first shipload of large quantities of food bought with the $6,000,000 thus far made available for food by the interim agreement between Israel and the United States on the use of aid funds. Three more ships are to come this

Chaplains Receive Awards In Memory Of Three

Three chaplains, one from each branch of the armed forces, were honored for their "consecrated service and idealism" to inter-faith good will at the second annual "Four Chaplains Award Dinner" at the Waldorf-Astoria, in New York, sponsored by the Chaplain Alexander D. Goode Lodge of Bnai Brith.

The award is in memory of two Protestants, a Catholic and a Jew, all chaplains aboard the troopship Dorchester which was torpedoed on February 3, 1943. The chaplains gave their lifejackets to other men, linked their arms and prayed together as the ship went down. The four who died were Lts. Clark V. Poling, John P. Washington, Alexander D. Goode, and George Fox.

The awards in their memory, consisting of cash prizes of $500 and a citation, went to Maj. David M. Reardon, of the Army, a Protestant; Lt. Cmdr. Dennis R. Kerrigan, a Catholic; and Maj. Edward Ellenbogen, of the Air Force, a Jew. The awards were accepted for the chaplains by the chiefs of chaplains of the three services, Rear Adm. Stanton W. Salisbury; Maj. Gen. Roy Parker, of the Army, and Maj. Gen. Charles I. Carpenter, of the Air Force.

Rear Adm. Walter S. DeLany, commandant of the 3d Naval District, after emphasizing the important role chaplains play in the armed forces, appealed for American unity to make this country "a moral leader among the peoples of the earth, a mighty force for good and peace."

Asserting that there are "mighty forces of darkness at work in the world today," Adm. DeLany said that America must win the struggle, through arms if necessary.

"It is possible that it will not be our good fortune to win this struggle without the force of arms, but win we must," he said. "The alternative is a word of slavery. This is not a struggle for territorial expansion or economic advantages. It is one for the minds and souls of men, and in this struggle chaplains of the Army, Navy and Air Force are wielding a mighty weapon, the weapon of faith in man, faith in freedom and faith in Almighty God."

Prof. Abraham H. Fraenkel, president of Bnai Brith in Israel, said in Washington that the organization there "supplies the only platform where people of different political parties can meet and discuss major problems in a spirit of unity." He addressed the executive committee of the United States Bnai Brith.

"Our order is also a factor in increasing the moral level of the country as it is affected by the mass immigration of Jews from all parts of the world," he added. "We are doing all we can, we are taxing ourselves to the limit in order to help in the integration and absorption of the new immigrants."

Dr. Fraenkel is Professor of Mathematics at the Hebrew Uni-

Set Up First Jewish News Agency

Jacob Landau, fifty-nine, founder of the Jewish Telegraphic Agency, died in New York at the St. Moritz Hotel after a heart attack. He lived at Irvington on Hudson, N. Y. In 1917, Mr. Landau and a group of friends established what was said to be the world's first Jewish news agency at The Hague, Netherlands, known as the Jewish Correspondence Bureau. After the war ended, Mr. Landau re-established the Agency in London and set up news bureaus at Paris, Warsaw, Berlin, New York and Jerusalem.

In the early 1920s, Mr. Landau shifted his headquarters to New York, and the news agency became known as the Jewish Telegraphic Agency. New bureaus were set up in Latin America and South Africa, and the Agency became a principal source of Jewish information for the Jewish press and the general community. The J. T. A. gave extensive coverage to the 1929 riots in Palestine and the first outbreak of Jewish persecutions by Hitler in Germany, reports the New York Herald Tribune.

Mr. Landau traveled extensively as managing director of the J.T.A., and became a close friend of Albert Einstein, who acted as godfather for Mr. Landau's son in 1933. Other close friends included the late President Thomas Masaryk of Czechoslovakia, Aristide Briand, of France, and Gen. Jan Christian Smuts, of South Africa. He remained managing director of the J.T.A. until his retirement in July.

During World War II Mr. Landau was an organizer of the Overseas News Agency, serving as its managing director. The O. N. A. was a general news service, and worked in close association with the J.T.A. until their separation in 1949. Mr. Landau was the publisher of the former "Jewish Daily Bulletin," a newspaper published in New York, and of the Palestine Telegraphic Agency, now the Israel News Agency.

N.Y. Jewish Group Is For Limiting Fund Appeal To Publicly Owned Concerns

Differences of opinion over the proposed change in the Greater New York Fund's operating methods, to eliminate solicitation of funds from privately owned concerns and limit it to solicitation from publicly owned organizations developed among major agencies supported by the fund.

Statements upholding the Brunie Report, which recommended the change after a study by a committee of nine members of the fund board with Henry C. Brunie as chairman, were issued by the United Hospital Fund and the Federation of Jewish Philanthropies.

Frederick I. Daniels, chairman of a Pro Tem Committee in the Interest of Independent Agencies, speaking for independent health and welfare agencies that provide 55 per cent of the total services in the city apart from hospital care, contended that the Brunie Report "if adopted, would represent a tragic step backward for the fund and for the social and health agencies in New York City." He called for an impartial outside study, not only for the fund itself but of the over-all money-raising situation in New York, says the New York Times.

Milton Weill, president of the Federation of Jewish Philanthropies, said the proposed change would be a method "of strengthening and clarifying the role of the Greater New York Fund and enabling it to raise larger sums for all its participating agencies." Mr. Weill said he had supported the proposal as a member of the Brunie committee.

He said he "firmly believed that the proposed change would mean more funds for all the member agencies and would mean a stronger, more powerful, better organized Greater New York Fund." He pointed out that the plan, if approved, would not go into effect until 1953. "Meanwhile," he said, "all of us must continue to give full support to the fund's 1952 campaign, which will get under way in the spring."

Edwin C. Vogel, chairman of the board of the United Hospital Fund and a member of the Brunie committee, presented the position of the United Hospital Fund, which agreed with that of the Catholic Charities of the Archdiocese of New York and the Federation of Jewish Philanthropies.

"It is our considered opinion that the duplicate solicitation of private business by the Greater New York Fund and its member agencies is confusing, expensive and a great waste of the efforts of volunteer manpower," said Mr. Vogel. He said that the committee found that volunteer manpower would be more effective and that duplication of effort could be eliminated if the fund concentrated on the field of publicly owned corporations, reports the New York Times.

Mr. Daniels, director of the Brooklyn Bureau of Social Service and Children's Aid Society, spoke also for such agencies as the Community Service Society, United Neighborhood Houses, Travelers Aid Society, Young Women's Christian Association of New York, Visiting Nurse Service and the Legal Aid Society.

He said this group stood for "a growingly strong Greater New York Fund" which it believed could be achieved through a study in which not only the opinions of the agencies would be solicited but also "of the business world, which has a real stake in this."

If the fund abandons the area of privately-owned concerns, turning it over to the fund's 432 participating agencies, the business community, "instead of being relieved would find itself in the midst of a new kind of competition, even though a few of the private agencies except the federations would be equipped to solicit this area broadly," Mr. Daniels said.

Others who oppose the Brunie Report are W. Noel Hudson, executive vice president of the Federation of Protestant Welfare Agencies, speaking for its 161 affiliated groups and sixteen nonsectarian agencies; James G. Blaine, a founder and former president of the Greater New York Fund; the Catholic Charities of the Diocese of Brooklyn and Long Island, and Councilman Stanley Isaacs, president of United Neighborhood Houses.

ISRAEL CONTROLS RABIES WITH U.S. VACCINE

Dr. Martin M. Kaplan, chief veterinary officer of the World Health Organization, reported to the U.N. that mass vaccination of dogs in Israel with a new vaccine developed in the United States had resulted in a consistent decline in the incidence of rabies since October, 1950, when an intensive campaign was opened there. Dr. Kaplan said that the total of cases of rabies in animals had dropped from an average of 100 annually, prior to the campaign, to ten over the last fifteen months.

Israel attacked the problem on a national basis. All dogs in Israel have been registered. Vaccinated animals have been tagged to identify them. Stray dogs are destroyed and all new-born ones are vaccinated at the age of six months. Human deaths from rabies dropped during the campaign from twenty between 1948 and 1950, to none in 1951, Dr. Kaplan said.

Overweight, unless it is due to ill health, should be treated by a doctor who will prescribe diet and exercise to reduce the unwanted pounds.

TRIBUTE WEEK HONOURS MRS. WARBURG

Two thousand women in New York paid tribute to Mrs. Felix M. Warburg, philanthropist and humanitarian, for her many years of service to the underprivileged. The occasion was a Brooklyn Federation Day luncheon under the auspices of the women's division of the Federation of Jewish Philanthropies. The meeting, held in the Astor Hotel, was part of the tribute week to Mrs. Warburg, widow of one of the founders and first president of the Federation, conducted by the women's divisions in connection with the organization's $20,000,000 appeal.

Mrs. Warburg was unable to attend the meeting. Her son, Gerald Warburg, 'cellist, accepted for her an illuminated scroll, signed by leaders of the division. The citation praised Mrs. Warburg for her "concern for the welfare of the people of the world" and said that she was "an inspiration to everyone" "whose warmth of personality had gained her the devotion of the entire community."

Fish is a valuable source of proteins, calcium, phosphorus, iron and iodine, and should be a feature of the menu at least once or twice a week.

Yummy! Chelsea Bun Loaf
A treat you can make easily with new fast DRY Yeast

Now you have Fleischmann's Fast Dry Yeast, forget about the oldtime hazards of yeast baking! Always at hand— always full-strength and fast rising! Keep a month's supply in your cupboard! Make this delicious Chelsea Bun Loaf— cut in slices for buttering, or separate the buns.

CHELSEA BUN LOAF
Make 3 pans of buns from this one recipe — dough will keep in refrigerator for a week.

Scald ¾ c. milk, ½ c. granulated sugar, 1½ tsps. salt and ⅓ c. shortening; cool to lukewarm. Meanwhile, measure into a large bowl ½ c. lukewarm water, 1 tsp. granulated sugar; stir until sugar is dissolved. Sprinkle with 1 envelope Fleischmann's Fast Rising Dry Yeast. Let stand 10 mins., THEN stir well. Add cooled milk mixture and stir in 1 well-beaten egg. Stir in 2 c. once-sifted bread flour; beat until smooth. Work in 2½ c. once-sifted bread flour. Knead on lightly-floured board until smooth and elastic. Cut off ⅔ of dough, knead into a smooth ball, place in greased bowl, grease top of dough, cover and store in refrigerator until wanted. Shape remaining ⅓ of dough into a smooth ball, place in greased bowl and grease top. Cover and set in warm place, free from draught. Let rise until doubled in bulk. Cream 3 tbs. butter or margarine and blend in ⅓ c. brown sugar (lightly pressed down), 1½ tsps. ground cinnamon and 3 tbs. corn syrup; spread about ⅓ of this mixture in bottom of a greased loaf pan (4½" x 8½") and sprinkle with pecan halves. Punch down risen dough and roll out into an 8" square; loosen dough. Spread with remaining sugar mixture and sprinkle with ⅓ c. raisins. Loosely roll up like a jelly roll. Cut roll into 6 slices. Place in prepared pan. Grease tops. Cover and let rise until doubled in bulk. Bake in moderate oven, 350°, 25-30 mins. Let stand in pan for 5 mins. before turning out.

Sun Life Has Record Year

New records were attained by the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada in 1951, it was revealed in the 81st annual report submitted by George W. Bourke, president, at the annual meeting held in Montreal. New life insurance business amounting to $461,700,000 was sold by the company during the year. This was the largest amount reported by any Canadian company, it was indicated.

In presenting the report, Mr. Bourke referred to the Sun Life as being not only a financial institution but also a social institution whose funds are paid to beneficiaries in the event of the death of the policyholder, or to the policyholder himself in the form of retirement benefits and annuities. During 1951, a record total of more than $124,600,000 was paid, or $489,000 for each working day. Of this amount, nearly $38,700,000 was paid to beneficiaries, and $36,270,000 to policyholders in respect of maturing endowments. More than $15,-830,000 was paid under annuity contracts, and the balance in disability benefits, dividends, etc.

New life insurance for the year amounted to $461,778,000 as compared with $441 million in 1950. This represents more than $1,800,-000 of new business for each working day of 1951. Group insurance written during the period amounted to $94 million. Group insurance, said Mr. Bourke, is one of the greatest modern developments of life insurance, and the Sun Life was the first Canadian company to write a Group Life policy.

The company's total life insurance in force was increased in 1951 by $339 million, and at the end of the year totalled $4,801,500,-000. Group insurance included in this amount was $1,253,500,000, an increase of $188,500,000 of 15.5% over the total at the end of the previous year. Sun Life annuities to individuals or through group pension plans now provide for immediate or future payments of more than $104 millions per annum.

1,825,000 Policies

The total number of policies in force, ordinary, group and annuities, is well over 1,825,000. The proportion of insurance and annuities in force in the various countries in which the company operates is as follows: Canada 42%, United States 37%, Great Britain 12%, other countries 9%.

Total assets increased during the year by more than $58 million, and now amount to $1,666 million. The interest rate earned on the company's assets during 1951 was 3.70% as compared with 3.61% in 1950, 3.48% in 1949 and 3.30% in 1948.

Slay Some Arab Thieves, Hold Others

A stealthy war by night, still being fought along Israel's borders between Arab infiltrators and the Israeli Army and police, cost the lives of 133 Arabs and twelve Israelis in the last three months of 1951, Israeli Army sources disclosed at Tel Aviv. During the same period, they added, 579 Arab infiltrators were captured.

The army sources said most Arabs who had infiltrated the border areas to a depth of five to eight miles had come to steal. Fanatics who lay mines and wreak deliberate havoc appear occasionally, but have been rare during the last twelve months.

The infiltrators most frequently steal electric wires and cables, whose copper content fetches high prices in the Old City of Jerusalem, Amman, Damascus and Beirut. The rise in the price of copper in the Middle East during the last year has helped to keep the nocturnal marauders coming in spite of high casualties, according to the New York Times.

In addition to their dead, the Arabs left eighty-nine wounded behind during the three-month period and undoubtedly carried many more with them into Arab territory, the army sources said. On several occasions recently, marauders have cut some of the main Tel Aviv-Jerusalem telephone lines, causing long delays in service.

Other infiltrators steal lengths of irrigation pipe, which they carry back into Arab territory on mules, as well as whatever else comes to hand, such as cattle and horses. In certain border villages, stealing has become a major business. One Arab village ten miles from the Tel Aviv suburbs has increased in population, according to the army sources, in spite of the fact that most of the villagers' lands now are on the Israeli side of the border.

In the village, all echelons of infiltrators are represented, from those who provide equipment and make plans, to the fences who dispose of the loot. Some are interested mainly in the black-marketing of cheap Arab food and operate with the connivance of the Israelis. According to the letter of the Israeli-Jordanian armistice agreement, Jordanians are supposed to recover and return the loot, but during the three-month period the only items returned were five pairs of boots and sixty-eight bunches of bananas.

Army sources estimate that during 1951 Israel suffered damage totaling £750,000 (Israeli) ($2,100,-000) at the hands of the marauders. Most of the infiltrators came from Jordan, probably because the Israeli-Jordanian frontier cuts through many areas once solidly Arab. Some infiltrators even try to cultivate fields, gather oranges or other crops, or graze their flocks on the Israeli side of border.

The most dangerous infiltrators are hashish smugglers who, with loads of the drug grown in Syria and Lebanon, cross Israeli territory from the Hebron area to the Gaza strip, whence the drug is transported to big markets in Egypt. The smugglers, who can get across in one night's hard march, are well-organized and well-armed, and will put up a hard fight if intercepted. On this question, says the Times, the Israeli authorities are for once united in purpose with the authorities of Jordan and Egypt.

ROSE FROM NEWSBOY TO OWN AGENCY

Benjamin Farer, of Waterbury, Conn., who rose from newsboy to ownership of one of Connecticut's largest newspaper and magazine distributing organizations, died of a cerebral hemorrhage in St. Francis Hospital, Miami Beach. He was 59 years old. Mr. Farer, was president of the Farer News Company and head of the Farer Transportation Company.

Born in New York of immigrant parents, he went to work early to help support his family. He sold newspapers for several years in the vicinity of Grand Central Terminal, worked as a circulation representative for New York newspapers and was active in the Newspaper and Mail Deliverers Union.

In 1932 he purchased the Mohill Publishers Agency of Waterbury and subsequently he formed the Farer Transportation Company, which performed hauling service in behalf of magazine and newspaper publishers.

Mr. Farer, who aided many philanthropies, was a member of Temple Israel Synagogue. He leaves his wife, Leila, who was with him at his death; a brother, Herman, and a sister, Mrs. Rose Arons, both of New Brunswick, N. J.

A complete medical examination at least once a year will help the over-forty person and his doctor to keep a close check on the condition of the heart, an organ that should be treated with care and respect after it has been active for nearly half a century.

World Choir Festival To Be Held In Israel

A choir festival, devoted to Jewish music and songs, will be held in Israel in August by choirs from all over the world. About 200 singers from the United States will take part. A. Z. Propes, assistant director of the Government of Israel, is in the United States to draw the attention of American choirs.

The festival, to foster Hebrew songs and singing and to stimulate the cultural tie between Israel singers and those of the other countries, will last for six days. Choirs will sing in theatres, concert halls, and squares of the cities and villages of Israel. In the finale 2,000 participants will sing four Israel melodies, written for the occasion, in the newly built amphitheatre in Jerusalem. The lyrics for these four melodies, which will be sung by the individual choirs, have been selected from the Bible. In addition to Hebrew songs, each choir will include in its repertoire at least one song in the language of its country.

Under the patronage of Moshe Sharett, Minister for Foreign Affairs, a committee known as the "Hazamir" (Nightingale) was established in Israel to organize the festival. The choirs will be directed by the Hazamir Committee which will furnish the text and notes of the four songs to be sung by all the choirs. During the festival, and for six additional days, the participants will be the guests of Hazamir and will receive full board and lodging as well as a six-day sightseeing tour of Israel free. Participants will be expected to contribute their travelling expenses to and from Israel with special rates arranged by Hazamir. The participants from American will fly to Europe and join the European participants in Marseilles. Information from the Israel National Tourist Center, 475 Fifth Avenue, New York 17, N. Y.

CONDUCTOR IS HEAD OF CREATIVE ARTS AT BRANDEIS

Under the direction of Leonard Bernstein, the Brandeis University School of Creative Arts, at Waltham, Mass., will integrate courses in music, drama, creative writing, the fine arts and the dance. Located on a 167-acre country campus near metropolitan Boston, Brandeis University is now in its fourth academic year and numbers a student body drawn from 30 states and eleven foreign nations. The University will mark its first Commencement Exercises in June of this year.

The Brandeis Creative Arts School will not only combine instrumental instruction with esthetic and cultural studies of an advanced musical degree, but will integrate courses in music, fine arts, and the dance and strike a balance between the theoretical study of the creative arts and an applied study emphasizing the point to which each art form is put.

"Students arriving at Brandeis will undoubtedly possess technical abilities," Mr. Bernstein declared, "and for that reason the University will not devote itself to teaching piano, or draftsmanship or the fundamentals of any art. But with an impressive faculty," the young musician stated, "Brandeis will help to provide the finishing touches in technique and at the same time emphasize the meaning of art. To be able to play a composition proficiently is not a sure road to success," Mr. Bernstein concluded. "What is needed is an artist who combines, with his own natural talent, technical accomplishment with complete understanding."

Denies Indians Were Misled By False Reports In Israel

The following appeared as a letter to the Editor of The New York Times from Yosef Ben-Ya'acov, of Emek Ha'yarden, Israel:

Your Tel Aviv correspondent recently reported that some 150 Indian immigrants staged a demonstration outside the Jewish Agency offices. These demonstrators declared that there is a color bar in Israel, as a result of which they were subject to unfair discrimination as compared with the immigrants from Europe.

May I be permitted to state that these strikers, like the writer of this letter, migrated as pioneers—pioneers in the sense that we were rather unfortunate in not being able to get presettlement training in India. However, we mustered ourselves together with a firm determination to serve our ideal.

On our arrival here every one of us had the option, but was not compelled under any circumstances, to join religious or non-religious settlements. Those who chose the latter have not encountered any hindrance to their religious observances.

However, collective living, being entirely different from what many of us were accustomed to either in Nagpada or Umberkhadi (Bombay's Jewish quarters), made many of us nostalgic. Consequently a few left the settlements of their own and chose to settle in Beersheba and elsewhere, with one purpose—not to build an Indian collective settlement but to earn enough to defray their return to Bombay.

The allegation that we Indians have been misled by false reports is absolutely untrue. Time and again we were told of the hardships and sacrifices to achieve our goal. Yet this advice fell on deaf ears, because the desire to become the first Indian pioneers was too deeply rooted in our hearts. We invited upon ourselves the hardships that every new immigrant undergoes.

It is not unusual for a small percentage to return to their country of origin, but quite unusual to ask the Jewish Agency to pay their return expenses. I am positive that the remaining 95 per cent of the Indians happily settled in various parts of Israel will share my views that it was most unbecoming for this small group of misguided and disillusioned persons to abuse Mahatma Gandhi's principles.

Overweight people are usually shallow breathers. Oxygen helps to burn up body and fats, so deeper breathing will aid in that reducing program.

George VI, Truly Beloved King

(Excerpt from address given at Temple Emanu-El Sabbath Eve. service.)

Since early Wednesday morning, February 6th, the voice of lamentation has been heard not only throughout the British Commonwealth of Nations, but for the most part throughout the civilized world, because of the sudden death of a truly beloved King. This universal lament carries with it an element of personal loss among the peoples of the world, that a true and a good man has departed.

George VI was a deeply religious man who lived in accordance with the Prophet's definition of religion: "doing justice, loving mercy, and walking humbly before God." His career may be characterized as the triumph of goodness, the triumph of courage, of devotion to duty and simplicity. His homely virtues gave strength to the British people in one of its most agonizing periods, when barbarism threatened to destroy the freedom of civilization. The fifteen-year reign of this monarch continued throughout to be years of anxiety for the British people, but the King remained the strong anchor.

Our generation has witnessed the disappearance of many kingdoms and kings, but the British Crown has remained and the symbol of the throne, giving unity to the British Commonwealth of Nations, is more sacred today than ever. The firmness of the British Throne has been made stronger by the consecrated reign of George VI. In the tributes of nations we can see how the people of the world have come to look upon the British Throne as a healing and cementing influence and a force for good in world sanity.

Like unto Moses, the servant of God, King George VI served the God of all humanity and millions of people. Like unto Moses, he did not really die. In the language of the rabbis, this beloved servant, too, was but kissed by God and the Heavenly Father took him unto Himself.

In this hour of mourning let us be thankful that such a one was King in a most trying period of the world's history. By his death we have not lost the life of this good man. His example remains with us as an imperishable addition to the ideals and memories of the British nations. In many a heart it will implant the conviction that higher than power and gold in our earthly pilgrimage are the virtues of goodness and justice and that each one of us, no matter how humble, may contribute to a better world and to universal goodness by practicing justice, loving mercy, and walking humbly before God.

The portion of Scripture for this Sabbath deals with the story of the Israelites at the borders of the Red Sea. The people of Israel were sorely perplexed. God, the eternal, addressed Moses their leader thus: "Wherefore criest thou unto me? Speak unto the children of Israel that they journey forward." In this hour of sorrow we are not to despair, forward must be our watchword.

Could the King speak he, too, would remind us of the duties we owe to the future, the homage we owe his successor, his eldest daughter, who has without doubt imbibed the best characteristics of her Royal father. From her the British nations expect the continuance of those grand traditions which have helped to make the name of Britain respected throughout the world. Let us move forward in justice, in goodness and in peace.

Z.O.A. Bond Sale Is Third Of Whole In U.S.

The Zionist Organization of America has sold, or obtained pledges for the sale of, $36,000,000 in Israeli bonds, which is more than 35 per cent of the total sales in the U.S. since the bonds went on sale May 1, it was said by Louis A. Falk, chairman of the Z. O. A. bond campaign. Mr. Falk and Abraham A. Redelheim, chairman of the Z. O. A. administrative council, were guests at a reception at the Astor Hotel, in New York, given by Benjamin G. Browdy, Z. O. A. president, for their efforts in behalf of the bond sale.

The significance of the announcement and the reception is that the Z. O. A. feels it has been "kicked around" by non-Zionist Jews who have indicated a belief that since the establishment of Israel there is little further need for a Zionist movement.

Mr. Redelheim, discussing the importance of the Zionist movement in relation to Israel, said "the plethora of reorganizations outside of the Zionist movement which claim to be 'friends' of Israel will continue to help the state of Israel for only as long as there will continue to be a strong and vibrant Zionist organization."

Mr. Redelheim criticized those Jewish leaders who "failed to see the important role which Zionism plays in the preservation and enrichment of Jewish life."

Mr. Falk said that 90,000 of the Z. O. A.'s 152,000 members have already purchased Israeli bonds. All 865 branches of the Z. O. A. throughout the country, he said, have been converted into volunteer sales units. Noting that Mr. Browdy had pledged that the Z. O. A. would sell $100,000,000 worth of Israel bonds in three years, he said the first year's quota had already been surpassed.

month with more wheat and flour. Value of the four shiploads is set at $3,850,000.

By assuring Israel a minimum diet, the shipments at this particular time may help calm the uneasiness in Israeli business and financial circles that has kept food at blackmarket prices and has made the rate of exchange of the dollar edge upward for several weeks. Finance Minister Eliezer Kaplan's reported warning to the Cabinet that he cannot guarantee to provide the $6,500,000 monthly needed for food imports and the fact that the Government was moved to announce anti-inflationary measures a while ago, had only added to the uneasiness.

The independent newspaper Haaretz characterized the atmosphere in a cartoon showing a boy asking a shopkeeper the price of a stick of chewing gum. "Just a minute," the shopkeeper says, "until I check the exchange rate of the dollar."

Israel plans to devote a total of $17,000,000 of the $65,000,000 in aid funds to food purchases—$10,000,000 for wheat and flour and $7,000,000 for oil seeds to be converted into margarine and cooking oil and fish, also skimmed milk powder, sugar, beans and meat. This will be about one-fourth of all that Israel will have to spend on food imports for 1952, according to the Times.

cording to the New York Herald Tribune.

"The indiscriminate accusations of disloyalty leveled at government employees," he added, "the unbridled slander of character, the epidemic of loyalty oaths in universities and even in areas which cannot possibly be termed sensitive or vital to our security, serve only to sacrifice honest speaking, honest thinking and honest teaching on the altar of unreasoning fear."

Mr. Blaustein cautioned against oversimplification of the problem by identifying it with a few demagogues. Well-meaning, patriotic Americans, he said, are among those who are now taking counsel from their fears rather than from traditional democratic ideas.

"This is what makes the situation so dangerous today," he continued. "Too many well intentioned citizens are bound and determined to impose their own pattern of thought and behavior as straitjackets for all."

Roosevelt figure and the famous Will Rogers model in en route to the Will Rogers Memorial Hospital in Saranac, N. Y. The right to cast these models into bronze remains with the estate for the time being and, upon its liquidation, will revert to the heirs.

The remainder of the sculptures in Mr. Davidson's New York studio —600 to 700 pieces of all kinds— have been turned over by the estate to M. Knoedler & Co., for private sales.

According to Mr. Bienstock, another of the sculpture's projects will come to fruition. When Mr. Davidson was in Israel, just before his death, he made sketches for a huge memorial which he hoped would be executed by Israeli sculptors. Mrs. Davidson will return to Israel to supervise the work on this memorial.

REHABILITATION OF THE BLIND

The theme of White Cane Week, 1952, is Rehabilitation of the Blind. Although financial support is of great importance, rehabilitation means infinitely more than material aid. The extra measure is exemplified in the giving of personal services, and in that field, not one individual is too poor to contribute. Your contribution may be a friendly greeting, a moment taken for a chat, an arm offered across a thoroughfare, any act which will include your sightless friend in home and social activities. The average blind person has lost only one faculty. Other human ambitions and desires remain.

Do not think of yourself as giver only — you may be the recipient of an experience deeper than just the satisfaction of doing a kindness. "It is better to light a candle than to curse the darkness." Men and women who have been denied physical vision have oft times lighted their candles, and brought light into an otherwise spiritually darkened world. Blind and deaf, Helen Keller says, "There is no lovelier way to thank God for your sight than by giving a helping hand to someone in the dark."

SUN LIFE OF CANADA CUTS COST OF INSURANCE BY POLICY DIVIDEND INCREASE

Also Holds 1951 Canadian Company Record With $461 Million New Business

The announcement of a further increase in policyholders' dividends, reducing insurance costs; an all-time high in benefits paid; the largest volume of new life insurance issued by any Canadian company in 1951 — over $461 million; and a new record in volume of total assets which now stand at $1,666 million, are among the highlights of the 81st Annual Report of the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada just released by George W. Bourke, President.

In commenting on the continuing favourable trend in policyholders' dividends, Mr. Bourke said that any permanent improvement in interest earnings on the Company's assets brings about a reduction in the cost of insurance. The interest rate earned during 1951 was 3.70% as compared with 3.61% in 1950, 3.48% in 1949 and 3.30% in 1948.

The 1951 Report of Canada's leading life company reveals that over the twelve month period more than $1,800,000 of new business was received for each working day, the final total being an increase of more than $20 million over the previous year.

A SOCIAL INSTITUTION

Mr. Bourke described the Company as a social institution in its function of distributing payments to beneficiaries in the form of death benefits, or to living policyholders in the form of retirement benefits and annuities. In 1951, a total of $126 million was paid out for these purposes, including $35 million to beneficiaries of deceased policyholders, $16 million under annuity contracts, $36 million for maturing endowments, and the balance in dividends to policyholders, disability benefits, etc.

Since the first Sun Life policy was issued in 1871, total benefits paid to policyholders and beneficiaries have amounted to $2,436 million.

INSURANCE IN FORCE

The total Sun Life insurance in force at the close of 1951 was $4,801,000,000, an increase during the year of $340 million. Annuities now in force provide immediate or future payments to individuals or through Sun Life Group Pension plans to the amount of $104 million per annum. In discussing the continued progress of the Company, Mr. Bourke referred particularly to the ever-expanding services of its Group business, pointing out that the Sun Life was the first Canadian company to write Group insurance. He stressed the increasing importance attached to this form of collective protection by employers and employees alike, men and women in all walks of life, many of whom would not otherwise enjoy the benefits and security which life insurance provides.

Total Sun Life Group insurance in force now stands at $1,254 million, an increase of $168 million during 1951.

The assets of the Company increased over the twelve month period by $68 million, to reach a year-end total of $1,666 million, an all-time high figure.

NEED FOR LIFE INSURANCE

Mr. Bourke mentioned the advancement of medical science and its effect on improving the mortality rate but he emphasized the necessity for life insurance by pointing out that, in all companies, 30% of the death claims are paid on policies in force less than ten years, and 5% on policies less than one year in force. More than 50% of all deaths among Sun Life policyholders are due to heart disease, which is not necessarily a disease of old age. It kills and cripples thousands of children and tens of thousands of the young and middle-aged.

The key message of life insurance, said Mr. Bourke, is thrift. Life insurance combines protection with saving. Without the spirit of thrift and of self-reliance which life insurance has fostered over many decades, it would be difficult to imagine what the present state of our national economy would be.

A copy of the Sun Life's complete 1951 Annual Report to Policyholders, including the President's review of the year, will be sent to each policyholder or may be obtained from the Head Office in Montreal or from any of the branch, group or mortgage offices of the Company from coast to coast.
